A GREAT INDUSTRIAL FAIR
To be opened in the City of
SAN FRANCISCO,
On the 30th day of August, 1864,
Under the direction of the Mechanics' Institute,
OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The attention of the public is invited to this great display of our skill, industry and enterprise. To explain the objects and benefits of the Exhibition, the preparations for holding it, and the regulations for its management, a Circular has been published by the Institute in letter form and widely distributed. It may be seen at any office of Wells, Fargo & Co, at any Post Office, and at many of the country stores, throughout the Pacific States and Territories.

The various Transportation Companies will, with commendable liberality, transport all articles intended exclusively for exhibition, FREE OF CHARGE, and Wells, Fargo & Co, in like manner, will take charge of them.

All articles forwarded should be labeled "For the Industrial Exhibition," and be directed to C B PORTER, Agent, and all communications to be addressed to WILLIAM PATTON, Corresponding Secretary.

What Constitutes Loyalty?

There are so many men claiming to have graduated from institutions of learning who do not understand what constitutes loyalty that we beg leave to suggest an interpretation of the term perhaps not contained in their school books. In Republican America, it signifies fidelity to the Government—especially in times when by revolt or by revolution that Government is endangered. Too many claim to be loyal whosoever act, and sympathy give the lie to their protestations, and they render lip service as did Judas in the garden when the crowd with swords and staves followed to take whom he should kiss. The disgrace which was formerly associated with treason seems to have been lost sight of or so modified that to be guilty of what was once regarded as a heinous crime is now merely a difference of political opinion justified by its popularity and guaranteed by the Constitution. The open attempts of Northern allies of Southern rebels to overthrow the Government is only a constitutional opposition to the Administration, and the organization of armed bodies with secret signs and passwords in peaceful communities is only a lawful preparation to maintain rights of which no man has ever been deprived or threatened with deprivation.

The Democrats are almost ashamed of professed loyalty or else they believe themselves so [illegible] in their secretly armed organizations as to [illegible] encouraged to an open avowal of disloyalty. While preaching and practicing treason but few will confess in private conversation that they are [illegible]. Indeed some of them in the blindness [illegible] infatuation claim that those who support [illegible] who lay down their lives for the [illegible] the Union for freedom and all the [illegible] thereof theirs sought by their first strug[illegible] [illegible] are the only disloyal people in [illegible]. Will those who claim to have been nur[illegible] [illegible] cradle of liberty and educated under [illegible] institutions pretend to loyalty and still [illegible] a party sworn to resist the due process of [illegible] ministered according to the letter and spirit [illegible] ution they pretend to revere? It is [illegible] for a loyal man to oppose the Govern[illegible] [illegible] country as it was for Judas to be a [illegible]. The future will tell more heavily upon [illegible] men of the North than upon the [illegible] of the South. Public opinion, which [illegible] as correct and just, will hold up to [illegible] and execration him who deserted his coun[illegible] [illegible] hour of trial, and brand him as unwor[illegible] [illegible] dence. Loyal mothers will teach their [illegible] to hate him. Then, the benighted minds [illegible] Northern doughfaces, copperheads and traitors [illegible] illumined as to the true significance of [illegible] loyalty, and they will learn, when it is [illegible] that there is a compensation as true as [illegible] for their wilful ignorance and unrighteous[illegible]

AN IMMIGRANT TRAIN MURDERED.—The Marysville Appeal of August 1st says that C. G. Taylor [illegible] in that place this week from the Boise [illegible] and states that the news came into camp [illegible] of July that the Snake and Bannock [illegible] had attacked an immigrant train of 80 [illegible] 00 men women and children, and murdered nearly all of them. A few escaped to the [illegible] nts. They were hemmed in a deep canyon, [illegible] new cut-off, west of the Sweetwater. The [illegible] was from Illinois and Missouri, and bound for [illegible]. The Snake Indians, he says, are very troublesome, and are divided into four large bands [illegible] manded by white men and many of them are [illegible] with Henry's patent rifles.

MAIL BAG ROBBED.—The Sacramento Union [illegible] that Postmaster Perkins received information on [illegible] in San Francisco of the cutting open and robbing of the mail bags between Salt Lake and Fort Bridger. The mail stage was attacked by robbers, who stole all valuables from the registered letters. The following were the numbers of the letters abstracted: Register No. 811, 834, 825, 835, 817, 826, 821, 24, 828, 820, 842, 815, 810, 845, 818, 819, 801, 8 5, 846, 824, 1, 821, 820, 844, 816, 828, 829, 822, 3, 835, 841, 843, 23. The bags and letters were recovered and are on their way to San Francisco.

Gen. Sherman has a way of lightening trains equal to that which is the effect in theory of the condensed ration. The soldiers move without tents and carry but one blanket each. Pack mules are largely employed, and they must find their own forage. Beef goes along on foot. The General himself goes with but one blanket, and sleeps on the ground without a tent. That is the way the army goes.

A NORTHERN TOUR OF INSPECTION.—We are informed that Gen. McDowell, Commander of the Pacific Department, is to leave San Francisco on the 17th, and proceed to Victoria, where he will be met by the U. S. Revenue steamer Shubrick and taken on a tour of Inspection through the waters of Puget Sound. He will doubtless arrive here about the last of the month.

HORSE EPIDEMIC.—The Sacramento Bee says that a most fatal disease has been raging in that city among the horses and mules during the past day or two. The animals become dreadfully swollen and die in a few hours after suffering terrible agony. One stable has lost over a dozen horses and mules.

We learn from the Idaho Statesman that many of the merchants and business men of Boise City have agreed to close their places of business on Sundays after the 7th August.

Mrs. Weller is allowed by Gen. McDowell to visit her husband at Alcatraz as often as it pleases her to do so.

CANADA.—The recent development in Canadian politics not only exceeds in interest any event in the history of Canada during the last twenty years but bids fair to be followed by the most important consequences. The points at issue are an essential change in the political constitution of political parties and ultimately the confederation of all the Provinces of British North America, embracing Canada, the Lower Provinces (Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island) and the North Western Territory, into one administrative system. We give a brief history of the transactions which have brought on this crisis.

On the 14th of June the actual [Tory] Ministry were defeated on an amendment to the motion for going into Committee of Supply brought forward by Mr. A. A. Dorion—its object being to condemn the conduct of Mr. Galt, a member of the Cabinet, in reference to the disposition of $100,000 worth of Montreal debentures. The Government accepted the vote as a defeat and asked an adjournment to consider what course they should pursue. They finally asked of the Governor, Viscount Monck, a dissolution of the House and an appeal to the country. The Governor, though reluctant to grant this demand, gave at length, as there seemed to be no other alternative, the desired permission to dissolve, after exhausting every other expedient to procure a reconstruction.

In the meantime Mr. Geo. Brown, the editor of the Toronto Globe and leader of the Opposition, expressed himself in the course of a conversation with some supporters of the Government as willing to assist this or any other Government, in arriving at some basis upon which a mutual understanding between Upper and Lower Canada might be brought about and an end forever put to all sectional differences. Interviews were accordingly arranged between two members of the Ministry, Messrs. J. A. McDonald and Galt and Mr. Brown. Negotiations commenced in good earnest and continued during Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The result was announced to the House by Attorney General McDonald and by Mr. Brown, on Wednesday, June 22.

The Toronto Globe gives the following statement of the policy which was adopted:

According to the policy adopted, the remedy for existing constitutional difficulties is to be found in the adoption of the Federal principle. A measure applying that principle to the Canadas is to be introduced at the next session of Parliament, with provisions for the admission of the Lower Provinces and of the north west territory into the federation whenever that becomes practicable upon equitable terms. The application of the Federal system to the Canadas involves a legislature and a government for the whole Province having charge of matters common to the whole, and the division of the Province into two or more sections, with legislatures and governments having charge of matters of a local character. In the upper branch of the Legislature the equality of representation is to be preserved, while in the lower branch, Representation by Population is to prevail. Efforts are to be made to induce the Lower Provinces to join the confederation, but the success of the scheme, as far as Canada is concerned, is not to be contingent upon their assent. In any event, Parliament will at its next session be asked to carry out the principle as regards this province, while those who are beyond the control of the Canadian Parliament, will be invited in whenever they are willing to come.

So far as we can learn from our Canadian papers, the arrangement gives general satisfaction. When it was announced to the House, it was received by both political parties with loud applause. Mr. Dufresne of Montcalm, who has long been on unfriendly terms with Mr. Brown, crossed the floor of the House and offered his hand to him. Mr. Brown clasped it and shook it warmly, the members of both parties gathered around the pair, and there was a general shaking of hands between members of the two sides of the House.

The Globe hopes that in this basis of settlement the mass of the people of Upper Canada of both political parties, will see a satisfactory solution of the constitutional difficulties which have for ten years distracted the country.—New York Tribune July 2d.

HOW LINCOLN ACTED AFTER THE RESIGNATION OF CHASE.—The correspondent of the Springfield Republican writing from Washington under date of July says:

The President was very low spirited on the day on which he sent in the nomination of Dave Tod. He seemed to have been deserted of his usual good sense when he sent in his name to the Senate. The feeling was unanimous in Congress that for such a man to succeed Chase was ruinous to the finances. On Thursday night Governor Tod sent in his declination, and Lincoln went to bed upon it, and as he says, before morning he was satisfied that Pitt Fessenden was the man. Early Friday he ordered the nomination to be made out, and Major Hay took it down to the Senate. Five minutes after he had left, Senator Fessenden entered the Presidential apartment and was soon discussing the "situation." Lincoln did not tell him what he had done, but discussed Chase's resignation for a short time and then said: "Fessenden, I have made a new nomination this morning which I trust you will approve, I have sent your own name in." Fessenden was greatly surprised and amazed. He replied, "You must recall it, you can overtake Hay with a messenger now if you will. Please send for him at once for I cannot possibly take it. My health will not permit me to take it for a moment." But the President was firm. "You must take it," he said, and later in the day he sent word as follows: "Tell Fessenden to stick." Meantime, telegrams from all parts of the country came pouring in upon him, congratulating him upon his admirable selection. At night Lincoln was in fine spirits, and he exclaimed to Seward, who was present, "The Lord has never yet deserted me, and I did not believe he would this time." It was Lincoln's intention to send in the name of ex-Governor Boutwell if Fessenden had positively declined.

FORT ALCATRAZ TAKEN.—Some two months ago Bradley & Rulofson, photographers, were employed by some person or persons supposed to have proper authority to take photographic views of Fort Alcatraz. The views, it was understood, were wanted for the use of the Quartermaster's Department. The stipulated price to be paid the artist was $100 in greenbacks, but they were to be at liberty to sell a limited number to reimburse them for their labor, which would cost much more than that. Every facility was afforded for the work. Views were obtained from all points—every battery was mirrored in picture—a well posted enemy would ask no further information concerning Alcatraz if he proposed to take it or to run past it. The work was quite completed, except that of mounting the pictures, and it had already cost the photographers some $1,000. Indeed, a single set, consisting of the 30 views had been delivered to Capt. W[illegible] or Gen. Wright.

At 4 P. M. yesterday, Gen. Mason with a squad of soldiers dropped in at Bradley & Rulofson's gallery and producing orders from the War Department demanded and received all the negatives and all the copies of the pictures and the names of all parties to whom any copies had been delivered. We understand that Gen. McDowell has satisfied himself of the antecedents of the photographers and that they did their work in good faith at the request of parties having authority to order it. But it is evidently concluded at Washington that either somebody had blundered or on a sober second thought it was deemed perilous to publish so circumstantial an exhibit of the strength or weakness of one of our principal harbor defenses.—S. F. Bulletin.

The Grass Valley National (Copperhead) acknowledges the fact that a Copperhead meeting was held in Oroville August 1st, and passed resolutions to resist military arrests by force if necessary.

THE KOOTENAI MINES.—A private letter from the Kootenai country says that most of the claims now being worked there are very rich. The gold is very coarse, pieces weighing an ounce each being not uncommon.

Some of the loyal boys at the Dalles are moving toward the formation of a Volunteer Artillery Company. Eighteen names are already enrolled.

IN OWYHEE.—Our people may expect soon to hear of big doings at Owyhee. The Ainsworth mill is now running, and we will soon have silver enough here to build a good sized chimney.

Spain is going to erect a colossal bronze statue of Christopher Columbus to be placed in one of the public squares in Madrid.

PERSONAL.—Hiram Smith, one of our delegates to the National Convention at Baltimore, arrived in Jacksonville on Thursday evening on his way home. He made his trip overland.—Sentinel 13th.

EMIGRANTS.—A train of six wagons passed through town on last Wednesday. The train belonged to A. D. Runnells and P. S. Glandon, from Sigourney, Keokuk county, Iowa. Their destination is the Willamette valley.—Sentinel 13th.

LETTER FROM CAPT. WINSLOW.—We quote below a letter from Capt. Winslow of the Kearsarge in reference to the reported challenge of which so much has been written:

To the Editor of the London Daily News—Sir:—There have been so many non-essential publications on the engagement which took place between the Alabama and Kearsarge it is my wish that a correction should be made. In the first place no challenge was sent by Capt. Winslow; to have done so would have been to have violated the order of the Navy Department. On the contrary Capt. Winslow received a request from Capt. Semmes not to leave, as he would fight the Kearsarge and would only be one or two days in his preparations. Five days, however, elapsed before they were completed. The Kearsarge's battery consists of 7 guns: two 11 inch Dahlgrens, four 32 pounders, one light rifle 28 pounder. The battery of the Alabama consisted of one 100 pounder rifle and heavy 68, ditto and six 32 pounders—that is one more gun than the Kearsarge. In the wake of the engines on the outside the Kearsarge had stopped up and down her sheet chain. These were stopped by marline to a whip which extended some 20 feet and was done by the hand of the Kearsarge; the whole was covered by light plank to prevent dirt from collecting. It was for the purpose of protecting the engines, when there was no coal in the upper part of the bunkers as was the case when the action took place. The Alabama had her bunkers full and was equally protected. The Kearsarge went into action with a crew of 162 officers and men. The Alabama, by report of the Deerhound's officers, had 150.

The Kearsarge steamed to sea in order that no questions of neutrality jurisdiction should be raised. When far enough the turn [illegible] and started immediately for the Alabama for close action. The Alabama fired a broadside while running down on her, two broadsides and a part of another were fired before the Kearsarge [illegible]. The Kearsarge then sheered and opened on the Alabama trying to get nearer. The action lasted one hour and two minutes from the first to the last shot. The Kearsarge received twenty eight shots above and below thirteen about her hull, the best shots were abaft the mainmast, two shots which cut the chain [illegible] the shell of which broke the casing of wood covering. They were too high to have damaged the boilers had they penetrated. The Kearsarge was only slightly damaged, and I supposed the action for hot work had just commenced when it ended. Such stuff as the Alabama firing when she was going down and all such talk is twaddle. The Alabama toward the last hoisted sail to get away, when the Kearsarge was laid across her bows, and would have raked her had she not surrendered, which she had done, and was trying to get her flag down and showing a white flag over the taffrail. The officers of the Alabama on board the Kearsarge say that she was a complete slaughter house and was completely torn to pieces. This is all I know of the Alabama.

Yours etc.,
JOHN A. WINSLOW, Captain.

THE PRESIDENT ON THE RECONSTRUCTION BILL.—The President received the Act of Congress providing for a plan for the restoration of States to the Union less than an hour before Congress adjourned. He did not have time to veto or approve it, and so, on the 8th of July issued a proclamation, in which, after citing the foregoing facts, he says the Congressional plan is proper to lay before the people as an expression of the sense of that body, and adds:

Now, therefore, I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States do proclaim, declare and make known, that while I am (as I was in December last, when by proclamation I propounded a plan for restoration) unprepared by a formal approval of this bill to be inflexibly committed to any single plan of restoration; and while I am also unprepared to declare that the free State Constitutions and Governments already adopted and installed in Arkansas and Louisiana shall be set aside and held for nought, thereby repelling and discouraging the loyal citizens who have set up the same, as to further effort, or to declare a constitutional competency in Congress to abolish Slavery in States, but am at the same time sincerely hoping and expecting that a constitutional amendment abolishing Slavery throughout the nation may be adopted, nevertheless I am fully satisfied with the system for restoration contained in the bill as one very proper plan for the loyal people of any State choosing to adopt it, and that I am, and at all times shall be prepared to give the executive aid and assistance to any such people as soon as the military resistance to the United States shall have been suppressed in any such State, and the people thereof shall have sufficiently returned to their obedience to the Constitution and laws of the United States, in which cases Military Governors will be appointed with directions to proceed according to the bill.

RECONSTRUCTION IN TENNESSEE.—The Nashville papers of July 20th contain a proclamation of Gov. Johnson of Tennessee. He orders that, "for the purpose of bringing Tennessee within the provisions of the United States Constitution, which guarantees to each State a republican form of Government," an election shall be held on the first Saturday of next March in the various counties, precincts, districts etc., wherever practicable, for justices of the peace, sheriffs, constables, trustees, circuit and county court clerks, registers and tax collectors. The Governor proclaims that the enemies of the Union will not be permitted to vote or to hold office. Before voting each citizen must take this oath:

I solemnly swear that I will henceforth support the Constitution of the United States, and defend it against the assaults of all its enemies; that I will hereafter be, and conduct myself as a true and faithful citizen of the United States, freely and voluntarily claiming to be subject to all the duties and obligations and entitled to all the rights and privileges of such citizenship; that I ardently desire the suppression of the present insurrection and rebellion against the Government of the United States, the success of its armies and the defeat of all those who oppose them, and that the Constitution of the United States and all laws and proclamations made in pursuance thereof may be speedily and permanently established and enforced over all the people, States and Territories thereof; and, further, that I will hereafter heartily aid and assist all loyal people in the accomplishment of these results. So help me God.

AFTER INDIANS.—We have seen a private letter from Camp Gibbs dated Aug. 4th, from which we learn that Capt. Small with 20 men from his company left that place on the morning of the 4th on scouting service. Capt. Drake and Lieut. Waymire with 42 men were to leave next day for a 10 days tramp to the east and south. Capt. Curry had gone to Camp Alvord, 180 miles south-east of Camp Gibb, intending to scour the country thereabouts. The design of Capt. Drake's expedition is to intercept any band of Indians which may attempt to escape to Capt. Currey's [illegible] or Lieut. Noble with 20 men was to go into the country on the west about the 7th. The troops are certainly not idle and we hope to have the pleasure before long of recording a thorough thrashing of the Indians.—States[illegible]

Capt. Currey, with his detachment, left the Canyon City road for the scene of the Indian difficulties at or near Indian Creek so soon as intelligence of the affray in which Mr. Jordan was killed reached him. Col. Maury left Fort Boise on the 20th July, and is now in the same vicinity.

NEWS FOR PIRATES.—The heaviest battery ever mounted on a man of war is now in the Mediterranean, on board the U. S. steam frigate Niagara. Of 20 guns in her main deck there is not one less than an 11 inch or a 100 pound rifle—a fact the real importance of which can only be understood by professional men. She is thus provided with the best short ranged and the most perfect long ranged pieces of ordnance extant. The result of an encounter with her would hardly be paralleled in the history of naval fighting for no such armaments has been known before. Her officers and men are well inured to sea service, having been on board for many months.—N. Y. Times.

When we see a [illegible] foreigner we can't help imagining that such an individual is so used to monarchical oppression that he cannot [illegible] to re[illegible] publican government and the cringing to slavery and Jeff. Davis. All [illegible] love liberty love the [illegible] the combined armies of the world.—[illegible] Journal.

ON THE MOVE.—We notice that the [illegible] which has stood on the corner of First and [illegible] streets, known for many years as the "Laundry," has been divided into three parts and is being moved to different sections of the city. [illegible] splitting the houses thus we may [illegible] with the demand for tenements [illegible] there are few buildings in Portland [illegible] withstanding the great number built during last season.

FREIGHT FROM THE DALLES.—Seventy-f[illegible] hides were brought from the Dalles yesterday by the steamer Wilson G. Hunt. The webfoots send to their neighbors east of the Cascades for cattle for their beef, and then [illegible] the hides, to be manufactured into leather for [illegible] winter boots.

GENERAL McDOWELL.—Private telegrams have been received by military gentlemen at Headquarters announcing that Gen. McDowell would leave San Francisco on the steamer of the 18th for a visit to this portion of the Military Department of the Pacific.

SPLENDID.—The evenings in this vicinity are now really splendid. Particularly adapted to moonlight serenades, excursions and drives, which are freely participated in by the youth and beauty [illegible] lovers of romantic enjoyments.

THE NEWS.—Our San Francisco reporter advises us by telegraph last evening that the Eastern line was still down, hence we are without later dates from the seat of war. Legal tenders were [illegible] 39½ in San Francisco yesterday.

A CHANGE.—Engineer Throup, of the steamer Vancouver, has given up his place on board that craft, and will in future attend to the engine of the new steamer Vancouver, which will be got in readiness under his supervision for the new boat.

FROM THE CASCADES.—The steamer from the Cascades last evening brought a large list of passengers, many of whom were visitors at the [illegible] the Sister's College in Vancouver, returning home.

ABORIGINAL SAILORS.—Two large dug outs arrived under sail from Chinook Point yesterday, in the service of two or three Indians. These were loaded with half barrels of salmon.

THE PORTLAND ACADEMY.—The first term of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary for the year 1864-'65, will commence on Monday next, the 22d inst.

NEW MUSIC.—Charles Barrett has placed on our table several choice pieces of new music, samples of an extensive lot just received at his [illegible] store in this city.

The Missing Steamer.—There was no appearance of the missing steamer Pacific, up to 11 o'clock last night, and the increasing anxiety of our people concerning her welfare, was manifest in all parts of the city, that being the principal topic of conversation. It is known that besides having on board a number of our prominent citizens, among them Col. McCraken and Capt. Dodge, the Pacific has a few notable persons coming this way, and her loss would cast a gloom over the entire populace. But we still trust the delay is occasioned by no terrible disaster, and her fate may be no worse than what occurred to the Golden Age recently. It is reported that a steamer was seen passing the Columbia river, northward, on Friday, which possibly was the Pacific, going by Victoria. She has a large and valuable cargo for Portland, and it was understood the regular route would have been to this city direct, yet the San Francisco Flag advertises her "for Victoria and Portland," while the Bulletin says "Portland and Victoria." At best her non-arrival is a mystery.

Military.—We learn that Major General Joel Palmer has appointed Chris. Taylor, Esq., of this city, as his Assistant Adjutant General, with the rank of Lieut. Colonel, who has been duly commissioned by the Executive. The appointment is an excellent one, and we congratulate our old friend upon his military promotion. Col. Taylor is an old Oregonian, having come to the Willamette Valley nearly eighteen years ago. During his residence here he has deservedly become the favorite of hosts of friends—men, women and children—and whenever his genial, honest face is seen, it is sure to be heartily welcomed. We doubt not that in his new sphere of public duty he will prove himself a faithful and popular officer, as he has on all occasions heretofore, when performing official duties. Colonel; We respectfully salute you!

Practical Test of Silver Ore.—While there appears to be a mania among our people to hunt for silver ore, it may be of benefit to some to know how to find out, by a very simple process, whether any of the metal exists in a given quantity of rock, which may be ascertained by pounding a small quantity supposed to contain silver, as fine a possible, then place it on a shovel, or anything handy, and hold it over a slow fire, to burn away sulphur [illegible], which are generally mixed with the ores [illegible]. Then take a cup or any glass, or earthen vessel, into which pour a small quantity of nitric acid (aquafortis), in which put a teaspoonful of the [illegible] ore, which boil in the acid for a minute [illegible]. Then take common salt, dissolved in water [illegible] another vessel, pour a small quantity of the salt [illegible] water into the acid; if it turns white and looks [illegible] there is silver in the ore. Another process is [illegible] the rock, covered with borax, when the [illegible] will protrude. The last method is [illegible] well adapted to parties traveling, as the first, [illegible] want of facilities for the required heat.

[illegible] Scare.—Some of our citizens expressed symptoms of alarm last evening at the appearance [illegible] seemed to be a floating battery, approaching the city in the river, from the south, thinking it [illegible] "infernal" machine from Jeff's dominions [illegible] blow us up, which was accompanied by a rumor [illegible] streets that an English vessel had passed [illegible] mouth of the Willamette, in the direction of Fort Vancouver. The alarmists, ready to seize upon every opportunity for creating an excitement, [illegible] their wits to work and created an uproar [illegible] knots gathered on the street corners. We [illegible] trace this new scare to its sources, [illegible] "no explosion" within a day or [illegible] we shall be happy to pronounce the [illegible] matter a canard. In the meantime we recommend [illegible] friends to "smoke their cigars" as usual, and keep as cool as the weather will permit.

[illegible] Ticket Tunnell.—The features of the [illegible] mining district are becoming every day more apparent, and upon the arrival of every steamer from the upper country we hear more of the development [illegible] going on which promise to build up a live [illegible]. Jordan creek, perhaps equal to any on the Pacific coast. The latest enterprise in that [illegible] which our capitalists are investing their [illegible], is the "Home Ticket Tunnell," which promises to out-rival the most famous "Amazon Tunnel" of Nevada. We still maintain our most [illegible] hopes of the rich future that awaits us in the [illegible] opening of the upper country.

A [illegible] Farmer.—A perfectly sober gentleman [illegible] country appeared, besieged by dogs, on [illegible], between Main and Madison, yesterday, [illegible] compelled to walk in the centre of the avenue [illegible] his retreat good. He was at times [illegible] a demonstration from the right or [illegible] "let him go" for a few paces, until renewed hostilities made it necessary for him to put [illegible] about again. Thus he managed until one by [illegible] the thirteen canine pursuers left him to proceed [illegible] his business. Here is a model, thirteen dogs [illegible] one man in a prominent street of this city.

Mining and Scientific Press.—A paper with [illegible] published in San Francisco, which has [illegible] upon the publication of a new volume. [illegible] matter of course it might be supposed to contain [illegible] mining news, but upon examining the [illegible] for something in relation to these parts [illegible] one article, "Idaho Mania," which is what [illegible] be supposed from the title, not calculated for [illegible] great degree of correctness. A paper that [illegible] these mines can have no claims to be regarded [illegible] mining journal, and has no right to expect [illegible] patronage of honest miners.

[illegible] the Move.—We notice that the long house [illegible] has stood on the corner of First and Ash [illegible], known for many years as the "French [illegible]," has been divided in three parts and is being moved to different sections of the city. By [illegible] the houses thus we may be able to keep up with the demand for tenements for rent. We think there are few buildings in Portland "to let," notwithstanding the great number built during the past season.

Freight from the Dalles.—Seventy-five dry hides were brought from the Dalles yesterday by the steamer Wilson G. Hunt. The web-foot country send to their neighbors east of the Cascades fat cattle for their beef-steaks and soup, and then receive the hides, to be manufactured into leather for their winter boots.

General McDowell.—Private telegrams have been received by military gentlemen at Headquarters, announcing that Gen. McDowell would leave San Francisco on the steamer of the 17th, for a visit to this portion of the Military Department of the Pacific.

Splendid.—The evenings in this vicinity are just now really splendid. Particularly adapted to moonlight serenades, excursions and drives, which are freely participated in by the youth and beauty, and lovers of romantic enjoyments.

The News.—Our San Francisco reporter advised us by telegraph last evening that the Eastern line was still down; hence we are without later dates from the seat of war. Legal tender notes were at 39½ in San Francisco yesterday.

A Change.—Engineer Throup, of the steamer Vancouver, has given up his place on board that craft, and will in future attend to the engines of the new steamer Vancouver, which will be got in readiness under his supervision for the new boat.

From the Cascades.—The steamer from the Cascades last evening brought a large lot of passengers, many of whom were visitors at the opening of the Sister's College in Vancouver, returning home.

Aboriginal Sailors.—Two large "dug-outs" arrived under sail from Chinook Point yesterday, in the service of two or three Indians. The canoes were loaded with half-barrels of salmon.

The Portland Academy.—The first term of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary, for the year 1864-'65, will commence on Monday next, the 22d inst.

New Music.—Charles Barrett has placed upon our table several choice pieces of new music, samples of an extensive lot just received at his book store in this city.

The next term of the Beth Israel School commences to-morrow, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Deardorf. It will doubtless be largely attended.

Oregonians should test the merits of Dr. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequaled as an invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs, and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitters, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health.—Sold by Druggists and dealers generally. jy26daw

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "slight cold" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

Redington & Co., San Francisco, Agents for the Pacific Coast.

Dysentery.—For Dysentery and similar complaints of the Summer season, the PERUVIAN SYRUP has proved a remarkable preventive and cure. By imparting tone to the intestinal mucous membrane, it places this surface in the best possible condition to resist the irritation of crude and indigestible articles of food.

Periodical Headache—so common in uncleared and marshy countries, Tic Douloureux, that most painful affection of the nerves of the face, are often only attacks of ague in disguise—proceeding from the same noxious influence. Jaundice, Dyspepsia and Diarrhea, are frequently but disguised forms of Intermittent Fever. Even Rheumatism and Epilepsy, often result from the same miasmal cause. For such, Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue is an unfailing remedy. By striking at the root of these affections, it applies with equal certainty, as for the cure of Fever and Ague in its simplest forms.

Imitations are abroad! Be particular to enquire for Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. Sold everywhere.

The Diamond Ring

It was the night before Christmas

Dark and over clouded, with white gusts of driving snow, and raw air, which insinuated itself into every fold of the most voluminous wrappings A night which was uncomfortable enough to the rich, but dreadful to the poor

Mr Almayne did not observe the little blue nosed boy, crouching in the angle formed by the brilliantly illuminated plate glass window, as he sprang from his carriage and went slowly across the pavement into the bright thronged shop How should he? But little Ben Morrow's eyes, eager with the sickly light of starvation took in every detail of the rich man's equipage, and his purple fingers clasped one another tighter as he looked

"Oh!" he thought, "how nice it must be to be rich—to have cushioned carriages, and big red fires, and mince pies every day! Oh! I wish I were rich!"

And Ben shrank closer into his corner, as the wind fluttered his thin worn garment, and lift the curls, with freezing touch, from his forehead

Nor did Mr Almayne observe him again, when he entered his carriage, drawing on his expensive fur gloves and leaning among the velvet cushions, with a sigh scarcely less earnest than little Ben's had been

The child's ideal of "a big red fire" would have been quite realized if he could have seen the scarlet shine that illumed Mr Almayne's luxurious drawing rooms that night, glowing softly on gilded tables alabaster vases, and walls of rose and gold While just before the genial flame, the pale widower sat, thoughtfully watching the flickering spires of green amethyst light, and very lonely in his splendid solitude!

"I wonder what made me think of home just then," he murmured, idly tapping his foot upon the velvet rug "I wonder what alchemy conjured up the old house under the walnut trees, and the broken bridge, where little Clara Willis used to sit and study her lessons, while I angled vainly for the fishes that never would bite! How lovely she was that golden-haired girl, with her blue veined forehead, and her dark, downcast eyes! I was very much in love with Clara Willis in those boy and girl days I should like to know on what shore the waves of time have cast her little barque—it is not often that a person have one has known in lang syne vanishes so entirely and utterly from one's horizon Poor Clara—what glittering air palaces we built in the future—how solemnly we plighted our childish troths! And when I came back, with the "fortune' on whose golden colonnades our fairy castle of happiness uprouted its pinnacles—she was gone And Mary was a good wife to me, and a true—but she was not Clara Willis!"

As the thought passed through his brain, he instinctively glanced down at the finger upon which he wore the betrothal gift of his dead wife—the ring was gone!

"Lost—it can't be lost," he murmured to himself, trying to think when and where he had last observed it "Can it have dropped from my finger without my knowledge? I must notify the police at once, and have it advertised! Poor Mary's ring—I would not lose it for twice its value, and that would be no mean sum!"

It was a narrow and murky little street, with here and there a dim lamp flaring feebly through the white obscurity of the driving snow, but little Ben Morrow knew every one of its warped flagstones by heart, and ran whistling down the alleyway of a tall weather stained building, undaunted by wind or tempest

"See, sis, what a jolly glove I've found!" he ejaculated, diving suddenly into a narrow doorway, and coming upon a tiny room, only half lighted by a kerosene lamp, beside which sat a woman busily at work "Hallo! is the fire out?"

"Wrap this old shawl round you, Ben," said the woman, looking up, with a smile that partook more of tears than mirth, "and you won't mind the cold so much Every coal is gone, and I can't buy any more until I am paid for these caps Did you sell any matches?"

"Not two papers,' sighed the boy "I was so cold, Clara—I couldn't go round to the houses!"

'Well, never mind, Benny,' she said cheerfully "Sit close to me, dear—we'll keep each other warm Oh, Benny, I should like to have given you a nice whole coat for Christmas"

"Don't cry, sis," said the boy, leaning his head against her knee "Didn't you give me your shawl for a comforter, only I lost it that windy day You're just as good and sweet as you can be, Clara I love you just as well as if you were my whole sister instead of only half a one!"

She smiled through her tears

"What was it about a glove, Ben?"

He sprang suddenly up as if remembering

A gentleman dropped it in the street I ran after the carriage, but it went too fast for me to catch up Isn't it nice, sis?"

"Very, Ben"

She drew the fur glove abstractedly on her chill hand, and looked at the rich, dark fur

'Why, Ben, what's this"

For her touch had come in contact with something in the little finger of the glove, and she drew it out. Even by the dim light of the lamp she saw the myriad sparkling fascets of a diamond ring!

"The gentleman must have drawn it off with his glove," she said while little Ben stood by in open mouthed surprise and delight "Ben, this is very valuable—we ought to return it to the owner at once"

"But how can we, if we don't know who he is? said Ben

"It will be advertised, dear, every effort will be used to recover so valuable a jewel To morrow morning you must ask the newsman to lend you a paper for five minutes, and we will look at the advertisements"

"Sister," said Ben Morrow, under his breath, "is it very valuable? is it worth a hundred dollars?"

"More than that, Ben—why"

"Oh, Clara," he sobbed, burying his face in her lap, "a hundred dollars would be so nice! I wish it wasn't wrong to keep it!"

Clara did not answer—she only smoothed down her little brother's tangled curls, and he never knew how hard it was for her to keep back her own tears

Mr Almayne was walking impatiently up and down his long glittering suite of rooms in the Christmas brightness of the next day's noon, when his portly footman presented himself, like a respectable, motionless statue in the doorway

"Well, Porter"

"There's a young person and a little boy down stairs, sir, about the advertisement"

"Ask them to walk in, Porter"

Porter glanced dubiously at the velvet chairs and Wilton Carpet

'They're very shabby and muddy, sir

"Never mind, show them in"

Porter departed by no means pleased, and in a minute or two threw open the door, and announced

"The young person and the little boy!

"Be seated," said Mr Almayne courteously

"Can you give me any information in regard to the ring I have lost"

Ben Morrow's sister was wrapped in a worn shawl, with a thick, green veil over her face She held out the fur glove and within it a little paper box from which blazed the white fire of the lost ring

"My brother found it in this glove last night, sir" she said in a low timid voice "The initials—M A—correspond with your advertisement so we brought it at once to the street and number specified

Mr Almayne opened his pocket book

"I have promised a liberal reward, he said taking out a fifty dollar bill Will this be sufficient?"

Clara Willis threw back her veil

"We are very poor sir" she said "but not so poor as to take a reward for doing our duty Thank you, all the same Come, Benny!"

Henry Almayne's cheek had grown very white as he saw the golden braids and clear blue eyes of his sweet first love beneath the faded black bonnet

"Clara!" he exclaimed, "Clara Willis! is it possible that you do not know me?"

She turned at his wild exclamation and gazed fixedly at him with dawning recognition

'Are you—can it be that you are Henry Almayne?' she faltered only half certain of the correctness of her conjecture

He took both her hands tenderly and reverently in his if she had been a duchess the action could not have been more full of courtly respect

"Clara—do not go yet," he said pleadingly "Let me unravel this strange enigma of our two lives! Oh Clara! if this Christmas Day has indeed brought me the sunshine which never yet irradiated my life, I shall bless it to my dying day"

The low sun flamed redly in the west before Mr Almayne's carriage—the very one which Benny had so agonizingly admired the night before—was summoned to carry Clara and her brother for the last time, to their squalid home For ere the New Year dawned above the wintry earth Clara was married to the man who had courted her under the green willows that overhung the wood bridge, ten weary years ago It was a very short engagement—and yet it was a very long one!

And little Benny Morrow, basking in the reflected sunshine of his half sister's happiness, found out what it was to be rich!

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is tonic upon the

HEART,

LIVER, KIDNEYS,

DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders a physician and chemist of New York after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

without a solvent This was considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city and Prof Booth U S Mint Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practition rs (see American Medical Monthly, July 6 1860, page 26)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption Cancer Heart Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism Neuralgia Nervous Affections Dyspepsia, Bronchitis etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine The patient recovers flesh, strength and color hitherto pale relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative It regulates, recruits and purifies them Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food strengthen every relaxed nerve muscle and fibre and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility from whatever cause arising may be cured; strength in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant For Indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific

A word to the Aged

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative impeded to its beneficial action and permanent in its effects It tones the stomach improves the appetite and acts like a charm upon the spirits

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteric fluttering of the heart, nervous headache vertigo general debility and all the peculiar disturbances and derangements to which their sex is subject It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body and is absolutely harmless [illegible]
